

Do you really fly this big plane?

Hondo Cub Scout Wade Finger can hardly believe that a man could fly something as large as a C-124 Globemaster. So he is questioning Maj. B. Gibson of the 433rd Tactical Airlift Wing (Reserve) at

Field Crops Tour scheduled Tuesday

The annual Medina County crops tour will be held Tuesday, July 13, and will leave from Hondo City Park at 9 a.m. to observe grain sorghum varieties, corn varieties, soybeans, alfalfa and corn precision planter test plots. This has been a rough year on producers, and as a result, no dryland demonstration plots will be looked at. The first stop on the tour will be alfalfa, soybeans and a performance test plot on the Glenn Gooding farm. Alvin Wiemers has ten varieties of irrigated grain sorghum which will be seen. Members on the tour will drive through the Edgar Saathoff farm where irrigated corn and grain sorghum are being grown. The last stop on the tour will be on the Julius and Rene Aelvoet farms where corn varieties and a new precision planting is being tested.

Three extension specialists will be present on the tour to answer questions and discuss different topics of interest. Area Entomologist Jimmy Deer will discuss insect control. Dr. Jose Amador, Area Plant Pathologist, will present the latest information available on Southern corn leaf blight and how it might affect the corn market. Cropping practices including fertilization will be the topics Dr. Richard Hoverson, Area Agronomist, will discuss.

Following the tour the Agricultural Committee of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce will prepare a free barbecue which is sponsored by Chapman Grain Company and the Hondo National Bank.

Papers to be taxed

The sales tax has finally hit the newspaper and the Anvil Herald reluctantly regrets to announce the addition of the tax under certain conditions.

One year subscriptions and single sales must now include sales tax. This means that to the $5.00 per year in-state charge there will now be an additional 25 cents in sales tax. Out-of-state subscriptions of $6.00 per year will now take 30 cents more for tax.

Single sales will require one penny (1¢) for tax.

The only area where a tax will not be required will be the special subscription price of three years for $10 which the Anvil Herald has had for

Emergency loan points outlined

Bruce Foster, Rothe Martin, and other local Farmers' Home Administration advisors and committeemen met Thursday night in San Antonio at the Placio Del Rio Hotel with Undersecretary of Agriculture, Phil Campbell.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss drought credit loans available to local farmers and ranchers in Medina and surrounding counties through FHA.

The FHA committeemen advised that the basic objective of the emergency loans is to assist eligible farmers and ranchers in continuing their normal farming or livestock operations and return to local sources of credit as soon as possible.

The Disaster Relief Act of 1970 suspends the statutory eligibility requirement of "inability to obtain credit elsewhere" for loans to finance eligible applicants through the first full operating year following the natural disaster.

It established an interest rate for emergency loans not to exceed six percent per annum and authorizes the deferring of interest and principal payment up to three years.

Committee members advised that loan funds were available for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer and other essential farm operation expenses.

Purchase of farm machinery and breeding livestock emergency loans are available

E. R. Leinweber Company will furnish a $25 gift certificate to the person on the tour that makes the closest estimate of the highest yielding corn variety in one of the test plots.

All interested persons are invited to attend, says Glenn Bragg, Medina County Agricultural Agent.

PLAN NOW FOR DANCE AND CARNIVAL

Everyone is going to "the happening" come August 7.

Of course the big happening is the annual Hondo Fire Department Dance and Carnival.

Tickets are now on sale from members and they include some good prizes.

IS MY FACE RED!

Leave it to old Lawrence to pull the bungle of the year!

For 18 months I have publicized the Museum at the drop of the hat, and I will admit that a few times I even dropped the hat.

But what happens when we decide to open it? You guess it. There was no mention in the Anvil Herald last week. Now, I know I had a big front page story two weeks ago--but nothing last Thursday.

When Ralph Hauger heard this he blandly commented: "I guess that is why you wear 40 pants and a size six cap."

Many people will agree with Ralph, but my friend(s) know better. They know the cap size is a five.

Anyway, the Museum did open the three days over the weekend and attendance was not bad.

It will be open this coming weekend (10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday) and officials are working on setting the date for an official dedication ceremony, with ribbon cutting and all the works.

DRIVE FRIENDLY

Texans apparently went all out to kill each other this past weekend on the highways. Early Monday morning some 39 persons had died in traffic accidents in the state. DPS officials had predicted 48 over the entire weekend, so it seems as of this writing (Monday) we Texans have done it again!

Perhaps this quote from the Kreolite News holds true: "A reckless driver is one who pass you on the highway in spite of all you can do."

Museum holds forth three days, attracts some 200

What with a holiday already prepared by many and activities galore in the surrounding area, the Medina County Museum enjoyed a modest opening success over the weekend.

More than 200 persons visited the historic old depot to see the displays of Medina County heritage and history put into viewable shape under the supervision of Nora Winkler and Mrs. Gladys Lindenburg.

Naturally, many of those going through the building during the three days were local. But one bright spot in the initial venture was the fact that the Museum did attract people traveling through.

Visitors signing the register included a family of five from Elgin, Illinois, and visitors from Hemstead, New York, Adams, Wisconsin, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Parents Know the Drug Threat

The child you save may be your own!

By

Jerry Williamson

Hondo

Chief of Police

Today's Subject: Drugs and the Laws

No matter how much we discuss the matter of drugs and their misuse, there is still one incontrovertible fact: It is illegal. People using drugs, excluding those obtained by prescription and used according to directions, may land in jail, and their lives are affected for years to come.

For example, possession of Marijuana for personal use is a felony under federal law. A conviction could mean a sentence of not less than two years and not more than 10, for the first offense. When a person applies for a job, he is often asked to state whether he has ever been convicted of a felony. An affirmative reply, of course, would limit greatly his chances for being hired. Conviction on felony charges also means loss of voting rights.

Many state laws are more severe in their penalties for possession of Marijuana. For example, the state of Ohio specifies a maximum sentence of life in prison for selling Marijuana to people who are minors.

Many states specify Marijuana as a narcotic, but the federal laws do not, as of this writing.

On the other hand, possession of LSD, a far more dangerous drug you will recall from our discussion in this series, was made a misdemeanor, subject to a fine and/or prison term, in changes made in federal laws. Prior to these changes, possession of LSD for personal use had not been a federal crime at all. Today about half of our states outlaw the possession of LSD, but the laws are changing constantly and tending to go in the direction of stiffer penalties.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says, "The distance from the dare to try 'pot' (Marijuana), to 'mainlining' (injecting Heroin) is very short." Other law enforcement officers seem to feel that greater use of Marijuana, especially among youngsters, will probably lead them to the use of far more dangerous drugs.

Mind-influencing drug laws continue to change in recent years. Very important changes in federal law, making far stiffer penalties concerning dangerous drugs, were passed by Congress in just the last few years, in alterations in the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965.

The main changes were: LSD was placed under the category and defined as "depressant or stimulant drugs" and possession for use was made a misdemeanor on the first offense. And, indicative of the trend, it is now a misdemeanor just to have Barbiturates, Amphetamines or other drugs of this type in your possession unless they have been prescribed by a licensed physician and were obtained through a valid prescription from him. Offenders can be fined as much as $1,000 and jailed for up to one year—or both—for the first or second offense on these charges if convicted. On third offenses or beyond, the maximum fine is now $10,000 and up to three years in prison OR BOTH! There were, however, some special provisions put into the law for people whose convictions were their first on possession charges. These allow courts to suspend sentence and put the person so charged and convicted on probation for up to one year.

Under the new federal changes, the penalty for unlawful sale, manufacture, delivery or other disposal of, or possession with intent to sell a depressant or stimulant drug, or acts involving counterfeit drugs of this type, has now become subject to fines of up to $10,000 or prison terms of up to five years—or both!

The illegal sale, delivery or other disposal of such drugs by persons over age 18 to those under age 21, now can bring fines up to $15,000 or prison terms for not more than 10 years, or both! For second and later offenses, the fine goes up to $20,000 and the jail term to 15 years.

Of course, there are many ins and outs to prosecution of the drug laws, and the courts across the land are being swamped more and more with drug cases, but all indications point to stiffer penalties and more stringent interpretations of existing laws for chronic offenders. And, this is what we MUST get across to our children and youngsters: the laws of the land will not let them destroy themselves with drug misuse if they are caught and eventually they will most likely be apprehended.

Next week will be our summary. Try to be with us to wind up this very important series, please.

Citizens for Better Government write President about wetbacks

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter I sent President Richard M. Nixon. The letter is self-explanatory.

This wetback problem is very serious in Hondo, Texas and we would appreciate any help you can give us.

Very truly yours,
Jesus Rodriguez, Chairman,
Citizens for Better Government in
Hondo, Texas
806 17th Street
Hondo, Texas

July 2, 1971
President Richard M. Nixon
The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

Here in Hondo, Texas, we are witnessing a great influx of wetbacks, and we want a federal investigation conducted in Hondo and all surrounding counties to find out how many wetbacks have taken jobs away from Mexican Americans. We are getting more and more complaints from citizens here in Hondo who state that wetbacks come here and take their jobs from them. We can document many of these cases.

Our group, Citizens for Better Government in Hondo, Texas, is composed of over 300 members who are trying to better the conditions of the Mexican Americans, but we cannot do this when farmers, ranchers and businessmen in and around Hondo, Texas, keep hiring wetbacks at slave wages. We even suspect that in many cases the farmers, ranchers and businessmen do not even report the wages they pay these wetbacks to the federal government and the Social Security Administration.

"How in the world do you expect me to keep this vaccine at 52 degrees when it's 114 degrees outside!"

More about . . .

press caught my eye and my fancy. Written by Dan Cook, the column gave the writer's thinking on boxer Cassius Clay, or whatever that other name it is he goes by.

Cook felt the Supreme Court blew it when they reversed the decision on Clay. His thinking was based on the very reason Clay gave for refusing to be drafted. The fighter said his new Moslem religion forbid him to fight in a war. But Cook went on to relate how that same religion is dead set against fighting of any kind, like boxing. So it seems that Clay's religion is strong only when it comes to objecting to serving his country. Somehow its edicts slip his mind when it comes to boxing where he can get filthy rich off the country he refuses to serve.

Of course, the ruling on Clay was just the second boo-boo pulled off by the Supreme Court in recent days. Much of the press has hailed its decision to let the Pentagon Papers be published as a milestone in the freedom of the press and something great in the history of our democracy.

I cannot agree. I cannot see anything but harm to our country in the impressions left with the public, in the reaction from other countries. And I think that time will prove the newspapers and other media to be only the dupes of the conspiracy (or are they part of it) to destroy our country. I hope they never will be able to clean their face of all the mud when this comes to pass.

When I speak of the Supreme Court, I mean the final vote which was 6-3 on the Pentagon Papers. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's minority opinion summed up the entire episode in an excellent manner:

"To me it is hardly believable that a newspaper long regarded as a great institution in American life could fail to perform one of the basic and simple duties of every citizen with respect to the discovery or possession of stolen property or secret government documents.

"That duty, I had thought—perhaps naively—was to report forthwith, to responsible public officers.

"This duty rests on taxi drivers, justices, and the New York Times."

But the same Court that split on the papers vote, went for Clay 8-0.

COMMISSIONING SET

Hondo residents should be proud of the new weather radar station recently completed on the Airbase. And they will have an opportunity to show their pride at a bout 2:30 p.m. on July 15.

That is when the new station will be commissioned. Dignitaries from all over will be on hand to give the station its official send off.

In addition to providing for another link in the chain of accurate storm warning predictions, the station brings seven new families to the Hondo area. These men and their families have come from all parts of the state and nation, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Memphis, Tenn. and other points.

We welcome them to Hondo and hope they have a long stay among us.

WELCOME HOME, SIS

Ward Pope told me Sunday that Sis McDade will be home from Yankee-land on July 14 and I wanted to be among the first to publically give her a welcome.

It will be nice to have her home, although we know she has been enjoying staying with son John these many weeks.

More about . . . MUSEUM

To open again Saturday, Sunday

pendence, Missouri.

There were several visitors from San Antonio and one family eating at the Frontier Restaurant heard the opening discussed and took time to go out. A member of this group was from England.

And the register also showed visitors from Devine, Dunday, Yancey, LaCoste and other areas of Medina County.

"We were pleased that these people came in to view our displays," President John Wentz said.

Wentz went on to explain that the Museum received donations during the three days amounting to approximately $55. "Some of this is actually membership money," he said, "but we still felt people were generous."

Plans now call for the Museum to be open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday. However, volunteers are being sought to help man the museum on a daily basis at least through the summer.

Baptists open Vacation Bible School

Vacation Bible School will be held Monday at 8:30 a. m. at the First Baptist Church. All children ages 8 to 11 are invited to attend.

During the morning, the children will enjoy Bible study, missionary stories, creative activities and fellowship under the guidance of experienced teachers.

Volunteers needed

Volunteers are needed to help man the Medina County Museum on a daily basis throughout the summer. John Wentz, Museum President, announced this week.

"We feel that summer days provide the opportunity to attract travelers to the Museum," he said. "However, we need manpower to keep it open."

He went on to point out that the number of hours the Museum will be open on a daily basis will depend on how many people will volunteer to help.

Harry Filleman, through the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, has agreed to serve as the coordinating agency for volunteers. Anyone interested in helping provide this service to the community should call Mrs. Lillian Porter at the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, 426-2015.

Home offered to Museum

The Medina County Museum has been offered the remains of an old home in the New Fountain area and President John Wentz says Board members are trying to figure out some method of taking advantage of the offer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey of San Antonio have purchased the old Faser place in New Fountain and the old house, which is more than 100 years old, has been offered to the Museum.

"Of course much of it is gone and we would have to reconstruct it," Wentz said. "But if we can accomplish the feat then we would have a sample of authentic construction used by early settlers to that portion of our county."

The four were apprehended in raids made on the night of June 26 and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold Herring.

Charged were Clark Kuempel, burglary; Tommy Sharp, possession of marijuana; Steve Ward, possession of marijuana; and Tommy Sharp and Floyd Halliburton, burglary.

In the raid law enforcement officers found beer, styrofoam chests, plastic chests and other items reportedly stolen.

Marijuana allegedly belonging to Steve Ward was found in his car and at the home of Tommy Sharp, 913 30th, officers found a quantity of marijuana in a plastic bag inside a 40-millimeter shell and quantities of loose marijuana underneath cushions on the couch and chair.

No date has been set for the examining trial, according to Judge Herring.

This week

That's all she wrote

by Edna McDade

What a pleasant surprise it was, to find in John's June copy of St. Mary's University Bulletin, a picture and story of our good friend, the Rev. CYRIL M. KUEHNE, S.M. John was among his earlier-days political science students. And, we were all kindred spirits as fishermen.

Fr. Kuehne celebrated his Golden Jubilee this spring, with a special Mass for his former parishioners and friends from his pastorates and from Medina County.

Our Museum is indebted to Fr. Kuehne for his generosity in sharing with us his book "RIPPLES FROM MEDINA LAKE", on the sales of which $1 goes into our fund which needs all the transfusions it can get! They are available at the Anvil Herald for $4.00.

"Ripples", published in 1966, "tells it like it was" in the early days of Medina County that plotted the course which made possible its progress that has followed in the days since, enable us now to "tell it like it is".

If you do not have a copy of this area history, please do add one to your own library. Your children and grandchildren will be glad you did. And, how it will add to your own knowledge of and pride in our Medina County!

Landowners all over drought-stricken Texas will agree that R-A-I-N is about the best four-letter word in our language, especially if one's daily bread depends on it and the energetic dedication of our fellow citizens in the agricultural industry on which we must all depend.

Glory halleluiahs must have reverberated all over Medina County as its $1 million rain fell. A real "bargain" at that. Now how about an encore?

Evidently, to paraphrase a "country" saying, "You can take the Seaters out of Arizona but you can't take Arizona out of the SEATERS!"

So, it is hail-&-farewell to JOHN and LOIS and I add my good wishes for their success and happiness as they return "home".

How about at least a sample copy of those two Kearny and Superior (Ariz) newspapers -- and I'll bet, in time, they'll both be "SUPERIOR".

Pictures of JOHNNY JOE MENDOZA's car look like my almost new 1964 Chevy did almost seven years ago when a blown out tire almost made a ghost columnist out of me. The "almosts" saved us all -- my gentle readers included.

I hope Johnny Joe's future includes a new car and freedom from any such repeat experience.

Shortly before I came vacationing, I spent a delightful day with Mrs. ALFRED SCHMITT in Rio Medina and I have a story telling all about it ready for later publication in the Anvil Herald.

She very graciously invited me to come back for another visit and that is exactly what I plan to do soon after my return home, now set for mid-July.

Meantime, I hope my new friend is saving up lots for us to talk about.

Also, on my list of anticipated visits is one with another dear friend, whose story appeared in these pages last year. She is Mrs. ROBERT STOLTE, of the same area. She promised to "keep the coffee hot" until I returned and I'd better hurry -- before she runs out of coffee!

Sometimes, twins might double their pleasure and double their fun but it's tough when one fellow is left out.

When I saw the picture of our Puck 219 Cub Scouts, I checked to see how many I could recognize. Not many, I'll admit, although their names were familiar.

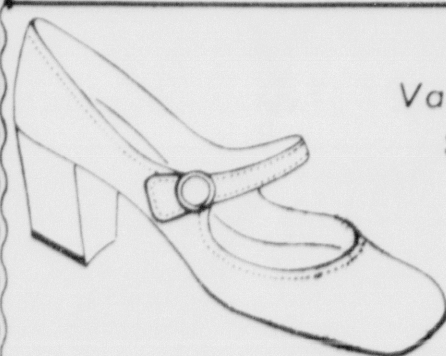

I missed the name (and picture) of JERRY STANGA and wondered where he was at picture time? The energetic twins are usually seen in our neighborhood in typical "me and my shadow" formation. I could only guess that Jerry had business elsewhere that day.

Having noted that Hondoans now must pay a 5% sales tax, I'd better hurry home to save money. The tax here is 6% - but with much more generous exemptions -- including clothing and shoes.

Weather station

Dedication of the new weather radar facility at Hondo has been announced for July 15, 1971 according to a telephone conversation from the office of U.S. Congressman Abraham "Chick" Kazem.

Ceremonies will begin at 2:30 p.m. on July 15 at the observatory site on the Hondo Municipal Airport.

The facility, to be operated by the National Weather Service of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, will fill a large gap in the weather radar coverage of southwest Texas.

This new weather radar has the capability of detecting severe storms at distances in excess of 200 miles. Thus, it will be able to detect thunderstorm areas and other major weather disturbances as they move eastward from the Big Bend area and northward out of the State of Coahuila, Mexico.

Hondo was selected as the location for this station because of its strategic location in the Federal weather radar network, and because it offered a favorable site, free from obstructions which would block the radar beam, according to L. R. Mahar, Director of the National Weather Service's ten-state region, headquartered in Fort Worth.

The radar picture will be transmitted directly to the Weather Service's Forecast Office at San Antonio and radar reports will be available to other weather offices throughout the State. Written reports of weather conditions as determined by radar will be prepared at least once an hour and will be available to the news media for dissemination to the public.

Supervisor of the new 7-man observatory is William R. Hare. The station is a branch of the National Weather Service Forecast Office at San Antonio, which is headed by Edmund A. Dilorenzo.

Building contractor was Carlisle and Carlisle of Uvalde.

Architect-Engineering work was done by the National Weather Service Engineering staff at Fort Worth.

Total taxpayer investment in the building and complex electronic equipment is approximately $275,000, of which about $200,000 was for equipment.

ARCHITECTS' DRIVE—This symbol is the identifying mark supporting the statewide public education campaign on environmental opportunities announced by the Texas Society of Architects. TSA President Tom Bullock, Houston, said his group intends to encourage the participation of all Texans in a campaign to motivate active concern for the environment. This symbol will remind Texans to make it a habit to ask this question: "Am I handling Texas with care?"

Dizzy Dean To Visit Astrodome

Have you ever wondered what happened to Dizzy Dean?

Ask A. F. McGuffin, Fall-staff Distributor in Hondo. Or just turn on your television set Sunday, July 11, and listen to Ol' Diz give out with the chatter as a member of the broadcast team covering the Astros-St. Louis game. It will be carried over all Astros network TV stations.

Then, on August 28, Ol' Diz will be at the Astrodome again, this time to attend "Old Timers' Day" festivities. As was the case on June 12, Dizzy will go to the broadcast booth to announce several innings of the Astros-Pittsburgh game.

Or could be you might want to be in the Dome to see Dizzy Dean in person. He would like that.

Rigby Owen Elected President Of Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. June 28 — Reminiscent of the traditional fighting newspaper editor is the Texas Press Association's newly-elected chief executive officer.

Rigby Owen Sr., Conroe Courier, was elevated from first vice-president to the presidency of the 91-year-old Texas newspaper organization at its annual summer meeting in Austin held June 24-26 at the Sheraton Crest Inn in the Capital City.

Although born in Rosebud, Tex., he spent his "growing-up" years and early newspaper career in Oklahoma and Louisiana, with a brief stint in Arkansas.

When he acquired the Conroe Courier in 1953, he waded into a political situation of longstanding — with sleeves rolled up and a determination that won for his community a clean and honest government to which he believes every American is entitled.

Owen, who has three grown children, presents an appearance of youthful ruggedness and restless enthusiasm. Yet behind his boyish good humor and modest neighborliness is a razor-sharp business sense successfully combined with an inherent insight for progress and an insatiable desire to complete his stated goals.

TPA's new President calmly assures all newspapermen and women of Texas that "the ball is going to keep rolling."

Owen succeeds in the office of the state newspapers' top executive position Managing Editor Ellie Hopkins, Longview Daily News & Journal, who saw TPA accomplish one of its greatest achievements the past year: completion and occupancy of its own wholly owned permanent association headquarters — at 718 West Fifth Street in Austin.

President Owen sees continued challenges for the Fourth Estate in Texas. "We are on the threshold for moving ahead. We've got a new building, good working conditions, and strong newspapers that can bring greater strength of unity for both weeklies and dailies of the state."

One of Owen's greatest desires for the Texas Press Association is for every newspaper in the state to be represented. Cull-fledged, active members, working together on vital problems for common goals.

"I want to conduct a strong membership drive to keep all of us working together."

When Owen was elected president of TPA, he was the second publisher in the history of U.S. newspapering to have served as president of two associations — his other having been as president of the Louisiana Press Association, 1946-47.

The other was a Texan, too. Joe T. Cook was president of TPA in 1945-46 when he was publisher of the Mission Times. On June 5 of this year he was elected president of the Mississippi Press Association. Currently he owns and publishes the Winston County Journal in Louisville, Miss.

Owen's father and mother moved to Oklahoma when he was about six. He attended Oklahoma University, planning a career in engineering.

"But the Depression caught me," he said — and since he had been a newspaper carrier since about age 14, he began working as circulation manager for the Cushing Daily Citizen. Meanwhile he married the pretty Miss Jo Briley.

He became a self-educated newsman, reading every trade journal and every book on the subject of newspapers, front office to back shop, that he could get his hand upon.

First meeting with TPA's retiring general manager Vern Sanford (then managing the Oklahoma Press Association) was when they set out to organize an OPA Circulation Managers Division.

Owen was affiliated with

the Ada (Okla.) Evening News, then bought into the Opelousas (La.) Daily World, one of the first successful offset publications in the nation. By 1950 he held controlling interest in it, but the next year returned to Texas, purchasing the El Campo News. Three years later, he sold it and settled down as owner-publisher of the Conroe Courier, converting it into a daily. In 1960, it went semi-weekly, but by August 1, Owen says it will return to daily status.

Jo and Rigby Owen's three children all went into the newspaper business, too. Daughter, Sandra, married Jesse Powell, former publisher of the Tomball Tribune.

Sons, Steve and Rigby Jr., have interests in the Conroe Courier. Rigby is listed as publisher and Steve supervises the central printing plant.

Their two sons also are married.

The new TPA president is proud of having been a grandpa 10 times now.

President Owen, who believes that a newspaper must make money itself in order to stay in business and to benefit the community it aims to service, tends to the business side of the Courier, plus other Owen enterprises, among them the local radio station.

He is proud of the fact that he has hired good editors and other newspaper workmen whom he can count on to produce good quality and honest work.

During World War II, when there was no help available, wife Jo worked fulltime in any department of the newspaper necessary.

Editorial battles fought by the Owen family through the Courier have touched city hall, the commissioners' court, the county judge's chambers, highway stock laws, and the district judgeship.

Every battle was won by the newspaper — and, as Rigby says, "for the people." But the going was tough. He was indicted for criminal libel, a case he won "hands down," boycotted by advertisers, threatened with bombs — but what we came out for in the Courier was right, and the people understood — and the voters changed the situation... we just dug up the facts and presented them to the public.

Trade promotion in the Conroe area by the Courier has been overwhelmingly successful. The new Houston international airport is very close to Conroe; in the last 15 years, county-wide population of the Conroe market has grown from 25,000 to over 50,000 — and Rigby Owen Sr. is looking forward to a lot of greater things for his area.

Owen also has been associated with the Eunice (La.) News, Wabaco News, Port Lavaca Wave, Tomball Tribune, Lafayette (La.) Pictorial, Huntsville Pictorial — and most recently he and his sons, along with Willis Webb, published the Cleveland Advocate. They sold it May 1.

He first served TPA as a director in 1955. He was president of the Gulf Coast Press Association, 1955-56.

Also, he is active in such organizations as Sigma Delta Chi, the Rotary Club and the local Chamber of Commerce.

Happy Birthday!
